

1st ed. 2017, IX, 151 p.

 Printed book

Hardcover

- ▶ 49,99 € | £49.99 | $54.99
- ▶ *53,49 € (D) | 54,99 € (A) | CHF 55.00

 eBook

Available from your library or

- ▶ springer.com/shop

 MyCopy

Printed eBook for just

- ▶ € | $ 24.99
- ▶ springer.com/mycopy

A. Linsbichler

Was Ludwig von Mises a Conventionalist?

A New Analysis of the Epistemology of the Austrian School of Economics

- ▶ Re-examines praxeology, the methodology of the Austrian School of economics Presents the unique argument that Mises defended a form of conventionalism Offers a conventionalist reading which renders the Austrian School more accessible for mainstream economists

Linsbichler's erudite new book is not only an invitation for Austrian economists to reconsider their Misesian methodological foundations, but more importantly an attempt to bridge the methodological gap between the Austrian School and mainstream economics. His charitable reading of Mises provides the basis for an original conventionalist interpretation of Mises' methodology, but it is most of all his anti-dogmatism, methodological openness and call for intellectual humility that stand out.

—Erwin Dekker, Assistant Professor of Cultural Economics (Erasmus University Rotterdam)

This book proposes new solutions to interpretational problems of Mises' methodological position. It also offers a lucid and scholarly introduction to some important problems of the logic of science. Specialists and general readers alike will profit much from reading that book.

—Karl Milford, Associate Professor in History of Economic Thought and Philosophy of Economics (University of Vienna)

This innovative book challenges the mainstream reading of Ludwig von Mises as a contested "a priori" proponent of the Austrian School of economics. It offers new insights to Mises' methodology and epistemology by interpreting his praxeology as conventionalist. In doing so the author opens novel perspectives for contextualizing Ludwig von Mises' work in the history of the Austrian School and the long term "Methodenstreit" since the 19th century.

—Friedrich Stadler, Professor for History and Philosophy of Science (University of Vienna), Head and Director of the Institute Vienna Circle, President of the Austrian Ludwig Wittgenstein Society

This book presents a concise introduction to the epistemology and methodology of the Austrian School of economics as defended by Ludwig von Mises.

Order online at springer.com ▶ or for the Americas call (toll free) 1-800-SPRINGER ▶ or email us at: customerservice@springer.com. ▶ For outside the Americas call +49 (0) 6221-345-4301 ▶ or email us at: customerservice@springer.com.

The first € price and the £ and $ price are net prices, subject to local VAT. Prices indicated with * include VAT for books; the €(D) includes 7% for Germany, the €(A) includes 10% for Austria. Prices indicated with  include VAT for electronic products; 19% for Germany, 20% for Austria. All prices exclusive of carriage charges. Prices and other details are subject to change without notice. All errors and omissions excepted.